WAS A FINE CONCERT.

Director Landon's Complimentary Program to Mr. Ernest Cox Heard by a Large Audience.

An audience that nearly filled the First M. E. church gathered Friday night to hear the free program given under direction of Mr. Landon of the Conservatory. The concert was given complimentary to Mr. Ernest Cox of Moore's Hill Ind., who is on a visit to his brother, Rev. Gilbert S. Cox of the First M. E. church, and to introduce Mr. Adolph Bock of St. Joseph as a member of the Conservatory faculty. Mr. Bock will begin his work with the Conservatory next week.

The program was a fine array of selections for the violin, piano and voice, and when Rev. Cox appeared on the program with his brother, the visitor found that he would be compelled to give a large share of the honors of the evening to his preacher brother, who was so well received that he was compelled to respond with another number. Both are fine baritone singers, but as the brother from Indiana only uses his voice in singing, the tone and quality seems deeper and richer at times than that of Rev. Cox. Their singing was highly appreciated.

Mr. Bock's playing was exquisite, and the Conservatory man was also given a fine reception. Mr. Landon is arranging to give a series of free concerts this winter that will be a treat to our people.

Mr. Cox is a graduate of Baker university at Baldwin, Kan., and he is planning to study abroad the coming year.

THE PRESBYTERIAN BAZAAR.

Will Be Held Thursday and Friday, December 5 and 6.

The Ladies' Aid bazaar of the Presbyterian church will be held Thursday and Friday. The booths will be seven in number and name. There will be a grandmother's, mothers, bride's, spinster's, sweetheart's, school girl's and baby's booth. "Where is the booth for father?" you ask, and with woman's unanswerable reasoning comes the reply: "They are all for father—and father's cash." The ladies who are to preside at these booths are very sure that they will have the most original and captivating booths in bazaar history. For example, the baby's booth, which will be in charge of Mrs. Joseph Jackson, Jr., will not only have a number of infant regimentals made by the ladies of our church, but also a line of the same to sell on commission from the baby shop of Kansas City. The other booths—well, they will be just as good. Dinner and supper will be served on Thursday, and dinner on Friday. Following is the menu for the two days:

Thursday's dinner—Roast chicken, escalloped oysters, mashed potatoes, cranberry jell, celery, cabbage salad, pie, coffee.

Good Clean Things to Eat.

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently But Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.—Advertisement.

His Birthday Anniversary.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Evans southwest of town, was the scene of much merriment Thanksgiving day, when a small company of relatives arrived unexpectedly to help Mr. Evans enjoy his birthday anniversary. He certainly was surprised when, coming in from the field at noon, he found several strange horses in the barn. He didn't guess the reason, however, until he was almost to the house, when he suddenly remembered it was his birthday. But he faced it bravely and seemed to enjoy it immensely, after the first few moments of excitement were over. Still, he vowed he would get even with them sometime. It was also the birthday anniversary of his aunt, Mrs. Omar Catterson, who was present, accompanied by her son, Halbert Catterson, and wife and children, Mariam and Halbert Gex. Mrs. Carloda Evans, mother of the host; James Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Evans and son, Roland Earl; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Miller and granddaughter, Vera Dorman, completed the list of self-invited guests. A genuine Thanksgiving dinner was served, the hostess being assisted in the serving by Mrs. Roland Evans. The afternoon was spent enjoying music, both vocal and instrumental, and when at last the hour came for the guests to depart it was the wish of all present that John would enjoy many more such happy birthdays.

Organized a Mothers' Club.

The Elmo public schools, under the guidance of Principal John J. Davis, has made a good start toward making the school the social center of the community. After the program the faculty gave a reception and a luncheon of pumpkin pie, coffee, cream and hot buns to the parents and pupils. After the luncheon a general discussion was entered into by the parents, in which they highly commended the work of the teachers. Principal John J. Davis gave a short talk on "The Relation of the Parent to the Teacher," and so strongly emphasized the need of a mother's club in connection with the school that such an organization was permanently effected.

Mrs. S. E. Joy was chosen president, Mrs. R. E. Ferguson vice president, and Mrs. Ida McElvain secretary and treasurer were chosen as the officers to safely guide the club into a field of work which will not only mean great things for the schools of Elmo but to the surrounding country as well.

All the parents went home well pleased with the afternoon spent at school in getting acquainted with the teacher and exchanging ideas, and all expressed their desire that another such a day would occur in the near future.

CAPPER WANTS CASE REHEARD

Supreme Court Restraining Order Temporarily Extended.

HODGES AGREEMENT IS BROKEN

Attorneys for Both Sides Continue Wrangle Over Kansas Governorship, With No Prospect of Settlement.

Topeka, Nov. 30.—The supreme court continued in effect until 10 o'clock in the morning the restraining order against the state canvassing board from issuing a certificate of election on governor. Attorneys for Capper will by that time file a motion for a rehearing in the Wabaunsee county case.

Attorneys for Hodges declare that they feel that the agreement entered into the other day with Stone and McDermott, counsel for Capper, is broken by the attempt to get a rehearing in the Wabaunsee case.

Stone's reply to this is that he had no thought of Wabaunsee county when the agreement was made; that it was not a part of the agreement, and that the agreement concerned only cases like those from Bourbon county where errors were claimed on the face of the returns.

Thirty Votes Involved.

The Wabaunsee county case was an action brought by Capper to have about 30 votes in the precinct counted which he said were thrown out as invalid because the voters marked in the circle and square in the same column.

Capper filed similar cases concerning a dozen other counties and sought to have these votes counted before the canvassing board issued a certificate of election. The supreme court last Monday decided against Capper in these cases, sustaining the motion to quash made by Hodges' attorneys.

It was announced Tuesday that attorneys for Capper and Hodges had agreed that if Bourbon county made correct returns of 41 in favor of Capper, Reno 14 and Morris 7, that no more supplemental returns would be sought by either side and the certificate would be conceded to Hodges.

Would Destroy Agreement.

When the hearing came up on dissolving the temporary restraining order Capper's attorneys wanted it to remain in effect until they could file a motion for a rehearing in the Wabaunsee county case.

Hodges' attorneys produced the agreement, and declared that it stopped Capper's attorneys from asking for a rehearing in the Wabaunsee case.

When the declaration of Capper's attorneys to apply for a rehearing in the Wabaunsee county case was made, T. F. Doran, one of Hodges' attorneys, said in his argument to the court:

"I am surprised at the motion for a rehearing. The only purpose of it would be to gain additional votes. This agreement would be destroyed."

McDermott, one of the attorneys for Capper, said:

"The stipulation was to call off the dogs on errors of the county commissioners on returns. Nothing was said or thought of with reference to the other fight, to open the ballots, and the parties to the agreement know it."

DETECTIVE A FORGER'S VICTIM

Chicago Chief Cashed Bogus Check—Pastor, Also a Loser, Found Guilty Youth Later.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Capt. John J. Halpin, chief of detectives, with a national reputation as a thief catcher, was induced by Edward Spere, 18 years old, to cash a check for $150, which turned out to be a forgery. The captain told the story on himself.

He might not have told it, but for the fact he had just learned that the boy was in the city workhouse, where he had been sent after the Rev. J. S. Smith caused his arrest on a charge of forgery.

The Rev. Mr. Smith cashed a check for $100 for Spere, but proved a better detective than Halpin, and found him two days later. Halpin was overjoyed at find Spere, and said he would have him freed from the workhouse so that he might send him to the state reformatory.

"DOCTORS" IN ROBBER GANG?

ALLEGED PHYSICIANS UNDER ARREST IN CHICAGO.

Lived in Pretentious Brown Stone House, to Keep Up Appearance —Much Loot Recovered.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Seven men now held at three Chicago police stations are declared by police to have been responsible for robberies totaling $250,000. Property worth $5,000 and 60 pawn tickets have been recovered. All the prisoners posed as mechanics or physicians.

Three of the men formed what the police call the "lead pipe gang." The others are known as "Dr." Nicholas H. Kern, "Dr." Edward S. Stalhute, Joseph Todd and Remus Dougherty. The alleged physicians resided in a pretentious brown stone house at 3419 South Park avenue.

Two truck loads of valuables were recovered by the police in a barn near this house in addition to the $5,000 worth of property recovered from the lead pipe robbers.

The looting of residences and freight cars has worried the police for months.

The first intimation of anything wrong at the "doctors'" home was when detectives were asked by an automobile insurance company to investigate the theft of a motor car "Dr." Kern reported stolen from his barn.

Quietly watching the place for months, detectives secured what they believed to be sufficient evidence to convict the men and arrests were made.

"Dr." Stalhute is said by the police to have a record in St. Louis, where he once was arrested on a burglary charge.

MISSOURI BANKER FACES DISASTER

Meteoric Financial Career Ends With Charges of Forgery.

WAS A PROMINENT CHURCHMAN

John Ogden, of Deepwater, Arrested—Stockholders Claim Shortage—Expose of Personal Affairs Astonishes Everyone.

Clinton, Mo., Nov. 30.—A meteoric financial career in the quiet little village of Deepwater, 12 miles from here has exploded with overwhelming suddenness when John Ogden, banker and a leading citizen, was arrested charged with forgery. He has debts which are said to exceed $35,000.

Ogden came to Henry county eight years ago from north Missouri and immediately began an aggressive real estate and loan business. His career was a series of successes. Enemies attacked his past record, but those who doubted hesitated to affront Ogden, an active church worker and a power in financial and political affairs.

Success, Then Jail.

Before the jail doors opened for Ogden, his fortune was estimated at $75,000. Two years ago he organized the Farmers' Bank of Deepwater, with a capital stock of $10,000. Ogden held 22 shares of the stock and was made president of the bank. Stockholders now say there is a shortage.

It was Tuesday when Ogden returned from Kansas City that the first change was noticed in him. Ogden who had always spent his time visiting friends when in Clinton, was seen to enter saloon doors. Never before had he been known to drink.

A Changed Man.

Those who knew him marvelled and everyone is still marvelling. The expose of his personal affairs is astounding in its revelations. The bank stockholders say, is not involved to exceed the extent of a $1,500 overdraft on his personal account. A Kansas City bank, it is believed, has lent $11,000, two commission houses $4,500, and at least $20,000, it is claimed, has been advanced him by his Clinton friends.

Trouble came when Ogden did not appear at his place of business as usual. The bank officials decided to investigate his affairs. W. P. Bradley, a business associate, was called in and found a note made payable to Ogden purporting to be signed by himself, which signature he declared to be a forgery. Then other discrepancies followed in rapid succession. Bradley hurried to Clinton, and H. A. Pogue, county attorney, issued a complaint charging Ogden with forgery.

Mr. Pogue stated he expected to be requested to issue further complaints against Ogden.

POLICEMAN FOR EVERY MAIL BOX

Activity of Suffragists in Campaign of Destruction Made Extreme Measure Necessary.

London, Nov. 30.—A policeman now stands guard over every letter box in London for fresh suffragist attempts to destroy mail by pouring acid into the boxes. Persons with letters to mail are subjected to close scrutiny, and if their behavior is in the slightest degree suspicious, must convince the police that the inclosures are harmless. It was said that the mail destroyed included letters containing considerable sums of money. The suffragists gave warning that they will renew their campaign the moment the police, who are handicapped seriously in their regular duties by the necessity for watching the mail boxes, relax their vigilance.

PEACE HOVERS OVER BALKANS

Prospects of Diplomatic Agreement Increasing Daily.

RUSSIA MAY BE STRONG FACTOR

Czar's Efforts May Take Form of Either Advice or Pressure—France, England, Austria and Italy to Help.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 30.—The chances for a peaceful solution of the Balkan crisis are increasing daily. Russian diplomacy, supported by that of France and Great Britain, expects to tide over the Austro-Servian conflict regarding the Adriatic and drive a bargain with Austria and Italy based on recognition of Albanian autonomy in return for Austria giving Servia access to the sea.

According to views of Russian diplomatists a permanent settlement of the Balkan crisis is desirable to the European powers. They are of the belief that there is no reason to make the Servian position economically untenable.

It is said to be possible that Russia may exert its good offices for peace either in the form of advice or pressure. It must be remembered that Turkey's left flank is entirely exposed to the Caucasus, where Russia has concentrated large forces.

Russia it is said, does not want any Turkish territory, but desires only the freedom of the Dardanelles for the Black sea trade, which represents three-fourths of its grain exports.

Diplomatic Conference.

Rieka, Nov. 30.—King Nicholas has just had a conference with the Austrian minister and other members of the diplomatic corps. It is believed at Montenegrin army headquarters that the Austro-Servian difficulty will be settled amicably.

Armistice Expected.

Constantinople, Nov. 30.—A formal armistice for a fortnight is now within sight, according to an official announcement.

Using strips of a blanket, the negro hanged himself from the bars of his cell. Dixon had said that he feared the negroes were organizing to lynch him. The jailer said he felt certain the negro believed a mob was coming when he heard several prisoners being brought up to their cells.

DR. STUART HAS NO PEER AS A LECTURER

For Years This Southerner Has Delighted Lyceum Crowds.

For years Lyceum audiences have been enthusiastic over the lectures of Dr. George R. Stuart, the great southerner, and our audience will be no exception when he appears here this season.

Sam Jones often said: "Stuart and I hunt humanity together. He goes on one side of the ditch and I on the other, and we get 'em 'gwine and a-comin'." For 16 years Jones and Stuart were co-workers in the evangelistic field. Indeed, it was Jones who drew Stuart from the pastorate, and it was Jones who drew him to the lecture platform.

George R. Stuart has spoken to the greatest audiences of any preacher or lecturer who has lived in the south, except Sam Jones. During a series of lectures in Memphis, Tenn., a few years ago, every available space in the building was packed and people were trying to climb up at the windows after all the doorways were crowded. One man slipped and fell against a window, breaking the glass and slightly cutting his face. Upon being arrested by a policeman he begged to see Mr. Stuart. When Mr. Stuart had heard the story he said to the policeman: "Is this the first man you ever arrested in this city for breaking in to hear a preacher?" The policeman smiled and said, "Yes." Mr. Stuart said: "Well, turn him loose for good luck."

At Portsmouth, O., during a series of lectures, the building that seated 2,000 was so packed with people that on entering the door at the closing lecture, Mr. Stuart was unable to get in. He managed to press down the aisle, but was unable to get further. The people, seeing his dilemma, broke into a laugh. Some one from the gallery cried, "Lift him up," and he was lifted up. Placing his knees upon the shoulders of the men he crawled over their heads to the platform.

Dr. Stuart's record for return dates at the Chautauquas is not equalled by any other lecturer booking at his fee. In the Lyceum he has an equal record, and especially during the last two seasons has the demand for lectures on Lyceum courses in the north been more than equal to the amount of time he can devote to this work. We are fortunate in having secured one of his dates.

Cause for Rejoicing.

It is the custom among some of the New York theatrical managers occasionally to entertain the members of the local ball teams at their theaters. A young recruit from the high grass joined the Giants one day, and that night went with his new teammates to a play as guests of the management.

The piece did not appeal to the men, though, and they failed to applaud with any degree of heartiness. After the curtain fell McGraw scolded them for this lack of warmth.

"Here, you fellows come in here free and have the best seats the house affords, and then you sit stock still like a row of dummies!" he said. "I hope this doesn't happen again."

The very afternoon one of the veterans hailed the youngster at practice on the Polo grounds.

"Well, kid," he said, "more big doin's tonight! Mac's going to take us to Bill Brady's theater."

"What's the show?" asked the green hand.

"The show," said the veteran, "is 'Bought and Paid For.'"

"Thank the Lord for that!" said the youngster fervently. "If it's rotten we won't have to applaud."—Saturday Evening Post.

IN BLACK AND WHITE

PREVAILING COLORS FOR MILLINERY THIS SEASON.

Fancy Brims One of the Marked Features of the Styles—Soft Hats in Good Felts to Be Seen in Profusion.

It is a good thing that black and white never grow tiresome, for millinery finds them predominating in all sorts of hats this fall. Two smart designs for street wear are shown here, of white felt faced with black velvet. In accordance with the characteristics of the season, the brims are fancy, one of them showing a wing-shaped extension and the other the slashing and turnings that have proved so advantageous to the trimmer.

Small, flat bows, covered buttons, button and button hole trimmings appear on models of this class. Most of them have soft crowns made over rice net with very little wiring.

These hats do not require bandeaux except for heads smaller than the average. In such cases it is better to introduce a padded head-band in the crown than to use a stiff bandeau. The hat continues to be perfectly comfortable, and sets on the head in the manner of a man's hat.

Many soft hats are shown in good felts, and most of the stiffer ones wear soft. Such hats are trimmed with fancy feathers, soft wings and flexible quills suiting them admirably. Younger women like them especially, as they can be adjusted in any poise.

POINTS ON DRESSING WINDOW

Need Not Be an Expensive Matter to Keep the Curtains Always Looking Fresh.

With the first touch of coolness in the air, the housekeeper's thoughts turn to her garret, where, if she is a good housekeeper, lies her supply of rough dried curtains, ready to be sprinkled and ironed, to do duty for another season. Now is the time of year to plan and arrange the household hangings and upholstering and to have them in readiness after the final housecleaning is over and put into place.

Many who have ecru curtains will find that they have become faded just where they hang against the window, but do not know that they can be renovated back to their original freshness with very little trouble. Try dissolving two or three teaspoonfuls of yellow ochre in a half cupful of warm water and put it in your starch. There is nothing in it harmful to the curtains, and it does not streak them. Yellow ochre can be obtained at any store where paint is sold, and it can be bought in two or three cent quantities, as little is needed for the curtains.

Mourning Waists.

The Dry Goods Economist states that mourning waists show bands of crepe in trimming effect, also revers, collars, cuffs and buttons of this material. Plain net is used where transparent effects are required. Mourning waists for the young miss are being shown, and they are made to give the appearance of lightness, quite foreign to the usual mourning garments. Some of these models are made from voile, peau de soie and crepe de chine, and trimmed with voile and bengaline.

Use of Perfumes.

There are many who think the use of perfumes undesirable, and again, others who believe that a delicate fragrance surrounding the person not only lend refinement, but is also an element that has a health-giving value. There is one thing to be understood, however, which is, that perfumes should be used in moderation and only the best allowed.

FELT BAD ALL THE TIME

Shellhorn Lady Suffered a Great Deal, But Is All Right Now.

Shellhorn, Ala.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Carrie May says: "A short time ago, I commenced to have weak spells and headaches. I felt bad all the time, and soon grew so bad I couldn't stay up. I thought I would die.

At last my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, and it helped me; so he got some more. After I had taken the second bottle, I was entirely well.

I wish every lady, suffering from womanly trouble, would try Cardui. It is the best medicine I know of. It did me more good than anything I ever used."

Cardui is a woman's tonic—a strengthening medicine for women, made from ingredients that act specifically on the womanly organs, and thus help to build up the womanly constitution to glowing good health.

As a remedy for woman's ills, it has a successful record of over 50 years.

Your druggist sells it. Please try it.

CLEAN EMBROIDERY AT HOME

Simple Matter When One Has Learned Just the Proper Method to Go About It.

Apropos of embroidery, lace-making and fine needlework, it is well to know how to clean articles of this kind, without having to send them to a professional cleaner.

If you will wash all your fine embroideries yourself by the following method, not trusting them to the hired maid or washerwoman, you will, no doubt, have splendid results.

Put a half pint of bran into the same amount of cold water and let it come to a boil slowly. After it has boiled twenty minutes, strain off the bran water and add a pint of boiling water. Use this mixture instead of soap when washing fancy work, fine embroideries and laces for the first time. Be careful not to rub, wring or twist them, but just squeeze them gently with the hands after the first washing in this manner. Soap jelly made by dissolving a pure white soap in boiling water may be used.

A little salt added to the rinse water, which should be clean and moderately hot, will set the color in embroidery silks and cottons, if there is any fear of them running. It is best to immerse colored embroideries in strong salt water before they are washed at all; then there will be no danger of the colors running.

Fancy work should be dried as quickly as possible and ironed on the wrong side, first spreading the work over a folded blanket covered with a clean muslin, so that when it is ironed the embroidery will stand out in bold relief, each stitch showing up as if it were new.

Fringed edges must be shaken out thoroughly while they are quite damp and never touched with the iron or they will become matted and unsightly in a short time.

When ironing lace, fold a Turkish towel, lay the lace right side down on the towel and press with a warm iron on the wrong side. This will allow the small upstanding threads on the towel to push through the mesh of the lace and make it look like new.

Never starch lace; iron it before it has become entirely dry.

WAS A FINE CONCERT.

Director Landon's Complimentary Program to Mr. Ernest Cox Heard by a Large Audience.

An audience that nearly filled the First M. E. church gathered Friday night to hear the free program given under direction of Mr. Landon of the Conservatory. The concert was given complimentary to Mr. Ernest Cox of Moore's Hill Ind., who is on a visit to his brother, Rev. Gilbert S. Cox of the First M. E. church, and to introduce Mr. Adolph Bock of St. Joseph as a member of the Conservatory faculty. Mr. Bock will begin his work with the Conservatory next week.

The program was a fine array of selections for the violin, piano and voice, and when Rev. Cox appeared on the program with his brother, the visitor found that he would be compelled to give a large share of the honors of the evening to his preacher brother, who was so well received that he was compelled to respond with another number. Both are fine baritone singers, but as the brother from Indiana only uses his voice in singing, the tone and quality seems deeper and richer at times than that of Rev. Cox. Their singing was highly appreciated.

Mr. Bock's playing was exquisite, and the Conservatory man was also given a fine reception. Mr. Landon is arranging to give a series of free concerts this winter that will be a treat to our people.

Mr. Cox is a graduate of Baker university at Baldwin, Kan., and he is planning to study abroad the coming year.

THE PRESBYTERIAN BAZAAR.

Will Be Held Thursday and Friday, December 5 and 6.

The Ladies' Aid bazaar of the Presbyterian church will be held Thursday and Friday. The booths will be seven in number and name. There will be a grandmother's, mothers, bride's, spinster's, sweetheart's, school girl's and baby's booth. "Where is the booth for father?" you ask, and with woman's unanswerable reasoning comes the reply. "They are all for father—and father's cash." The ladies who are to preside at these booths are very sure that they will have the most original and captivating booths in bazaar history. For example, the baby's booth, which will be in charge of Mrs. Joseph Jackson, Jr., will not only have a number of infant regimentals made by the ladies of our church, but also a line of the same to sell on commission from the baby shop of Kansas City. The other booths—well, they will be just as good. Dinner and supper will be served on Thursday, and dinner on Friday. Following is the menu for the two days:

Thursday's dinner—Roast chicken, escalloped oysters, mashed potatoes, cranberry jell, celery, cabbage salad, pie, coffee.

Thursday supper—Ham and eggs, baked beans, brown bread, baked potatoes, cake and fruit, coffee.

Friday dinner—Chicken pie, mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, Lima beans, cabbage salad, pie, coffee.

Good Clean Things to Eat.

"CASCARETS" FOR A SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Gently But Thoroughly Cleanse and Regulate Your Stomach, Liver and Bowels While You Sleep.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.—Advertisement.

His Birthday Anniversary.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Evans southwest of town, was the scene of much merriment Thanksgiving day, when a small company of relatives arrived unexpectedly to help Mr. Evans enjoy his birthday anniversary. He certainly was surprised when, coming in from the field at noon, he found several strange horses in the barn. He didn't guess the reason, however, until he was almost to the house, when he suddenly remembered it was his birthday. But he faced it bravely and seemed to enjoy it immensely, after the first few moments of excitement were over. Still, he vowed he would get even with them sometime. It was also the birthday anniversary of his aunt, Mrs. Omar Catterson, who was present, accompanied by her son, Halbert Catterson, and wife and children, Mariam and Halbert Gex. Mrs. Carloda Evans, mother of the host; James Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Evans and son, Roland Earl; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Miller and granddaughter, Vera Dorman, completed the list of self-invited guests. A genuine Thanksgiving dinner was served, the hostess being assisted in the serving by Mrs. Roland Evans. The afternoon was spent enjoying music, both vocal and instrumental, and when at last the hour came for the guests to depart it was the wish of all present that John would enjoy many more such happy birthdays.

Organized a Mothers' Club.

The Elmo public schools, under the guidance of Principal John J. Davis, has made a good start toward making the school the social center of the community. On Wednesday afternoon the pupils entertained their parents with a short program appropriate to the season. After the program the faculty gave a reception and a luncheon of pumpkin pie, coffee, cream and hot buns to the parents and pupils. After the luncheon a general discussion was entered into by the parents, in which they highly commended the work of the teachers. Principal John J. Davis gave a short talk on "The Relation of the Parent to the Teacher," and so strongly emphasized the need of a mother's club in connection with the school that such an organization was permanently effected.

Mrs. S. E. Joy was chosen president, Mrs. R. E. Ferguson vice president, and Mrs. Ida McElvain secretary and treasurer were chosen as the officers to safely guide the club into a field of work which will not only mean great things for the schools of Elmo but to the surrounding country as well.

All the parents went home well pleased with the afternoon spent at school in getting acquainted with the teacher and exchanging ideas, and all expressed their desire that another such a day would occur in the near future.

CAPPER WANTS CASE REHEARD

Supreme Court Restraining Order Temporarily Extended.

HODGES AGREEMENT IS BROKEN

Attorneys for Both Sides Continue Wrangle Over Kansas Govenorship, With No Prospect of Settlement.

Topeka, Nov. 30.—The supreme court continued in effect until 10 o'clock in the morning the restraining order against the state canvassing board from issuing a certificate of election on governor. Attorneys for Capper will by that time file a motion for a rehearing in the Wabaunsee county case.

Attorneys for Hodges declare that they feel that the agreement entered into the other day with Stone and McDermott, counsel for Capper, is broken by the attempt to get a rehearing in the Wabaunsee case.

Stone's reply to this is that he had no thought of Wabaunsee county when the agreement was made; that it was not a part of the agreement, and that the agreement concerned only cases like those from Bourbon county where errors were claimed on the face of the returns.

Thirty Votes Involved.

The Wabaunsee county case was an action brought by Capper to have about 30 votes in the precinct counted which he said were thrown out as invalid because the voters marked in the circle and square in the same column.

Capper filed similar cases concerning a dozen other counties and sought to have these votes counted before the canvassing board issued a certificate of election. The supreme court last Monday decided against Capper in these cases, sustaining the motion to quash made by Hodges' attorneys.

It was announced Tuesday that attorneys for Capper and Hodges had agreed that if Bourbon county made correct returns of 41 in favor of Capper, Reno 14 and Morris 7, that no more supplemental returns would be sought by either side and the certificate would be conceded to Hodges.

Would Destroy Agreement.

When the hearing came up on dissolving the temporary restraining order Capper's attorneys wanted it to remain in effect until they could file a motion for a rehearing in the Wabaunsee county case.

Hodges' attorneys produced the agreement, and declared that it stopped Capper's attorneys from asking for a rehearing in the Wabaunsee case.

When the declaration of Capper's attorneys to apply for a rehearing in the Wabaunsee county case was made, T. F. Doran, one of Hodges' attorneys, said in his argument to the court:

"I am surprised at the motion for a rehearing. The only purpose of it would be to gain additional votes. This agreement would be destroyed."

McDermott, one of the attorneys for Capper, said:

"The stipulation was to call off the dogs on errors of the county commissioners on returns. Nothing was said or thought of with reference to the other fight, to open the ballots, and the parties to the agreement know it."

DETECTIVE A FORGER'S VICTIM

Chicago Chief Cashed Bogus Check—Pastor, Also a Loser, Found Guilty Youth Later.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Capt. John J. Halpin, chief of detectives, with a national reputation as a thief catcher, was induced by Edward Spere, 18 years old, to cash a check for $150, which turned out to be a forgery. The captain told the story on himself.

He might not have told it, but for the fact he had just learned that the boy was in the city workhouse, where he had been sent after the Rev. J. S. Smith caused his arrest on a charge of forgery.

The Rev. Mr. Smith cashed a check for $100 for Spere, but proved a better detective than Halpin, and found him two days later. Halpin was overjoyed at find Spere, and said he would have him freed from the workhouse so that he might send him to the state reformatory.

Lived in Pretentious Brown Stone House, to Keep Up Appearance —Much Loot Recovered.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Seven men now held at three Chicago police stations are declared by police to have been responsible for robberies totaling $250,000. Property worth $5,000 and 60 pawn tickets have been recovered. All the prisoners posed as mechanics or physicians.

Three of the men formed what the police call the "lead pipe gang." The others are known as "Dr." Nicholas H. Kern, "Dr." Edward S. Stalhute, Joseph Todd and Remus Dougherty. The alleged physicians resided in a pretentious brown stone house at 3419 South Park avenue.

Two truck loads of valuables were recovered by the police in a barn near this house in addition to the $5,000 worth of property recovered from the lead pipe robbers.

The looting of residences and freight cars has worried the police for months.

The first intimation of anything wrong at the "doctors'" home was when detectives were asked by an automobile insurance company to investigate the theft of a motor car "Dr." Kern reported stolen from his barn.

Quietly watching the place for months, detectives secured what they believed to be sufficient evidence to convict the men and arrests were made.

"Dr." Stalhute is said by the police to have a record in St. Louis, where he once was arrested on a burglary charge.

They are to be capable of carrying and discharged one ton of explosives.

Campaign Against Corrupt Public Officials is On in Canton— Death for One Offender.

Canton, China, Nov. 30.—Canton is having a campaign against corrupt public officials. MISSOURI BANKER FACES DISASTER

Meteoric Financial Career Ends With Charges of Forgery.

WAS A PROMINENT CHURCHMAN

John Ogden, of Deepwater, Arrested—Stockholders Claim Shortage—Expose of Personal Affairs Astonishes Everyone.

Clinton, Mo., Nov. 30.—A meteoric financial career in the quiet little village of Deepwater, 12 miles from here has exploded with overwhelming suddenness when John Ogden, banker and a leading citizen, was arrested charged with forgery. He has debts which are said to exceed $35,000.

Ogden came to Henry county eight years ago from north Missouri and immediately began an aggressive real estate and loan business. His career was a series of successes. Enemies attacked his past record, but those who doubted hesitated to affront Ogden, an active church worker and a power in financial and political affairs.

Success, Then Jail.

Before the jail doors opened for Ogden, his fortune was estimated at $75,000. Two years ago he organized the Farmers' Bank of Deepwater, with a capital stock of $10,000. Ogden held 22 shares of the stock and was made president of the bank. Stockholders now say there is a shortage.

It was Tuesday when Ogden returned from Kansas City that the first change was noticed in him. Ogden who had always spent his time visiting friends when in Clinton, was seen to enter saloon doors. Never before had he been known to drink.

A Changed Man.

Those who knew him marvelled and everyone is still marvelling. The expose of his personal affairs is astounding in its revelations. The bank stockholders say, is not involved to exceed the extent of a $1,500 overdraft on his personal account. A Kansas City bank, it is believed, has lent $11,000, two commission houses $4,500, and at least $20,000, it is claimed, has been advanced him by his Clinton friends.

Trouble came when Ogden did not appear at his place of business as usual. The bank officials decided to investigate his affairs. W. P. Bradley, a business associate, was called in and found a note made payable to Ogden purporting to be signed by himself, which signature he declared to be a forgery. Then other discrepancies followed in rapid succession. Bradley hurried to Clinton, and H. A. Pogue, county attorney, issued a complaint charging Ogden with forgery.

Mr. Pogue stated he expected to be requested to issue further complaints against Ogden.

POLICEMAN FOR EVERY MAIL BOX

Activity of Suffragists in Campaign of Destruction Made Extreme Measure Necessary.

London, Nov. 30.—A policeman now stands guard over every letter box in London for fresh suffragist attempts to destroy mail by pouring acid into the boxes. Persons with letters to mail are subjected to close scrutiny, and if their behavior is in the slightest degree suspicious, must convince the police that the inclosures are harmless. It was said that the mail destroyed included letters containing considerable sums of money. The suffragists gave warning that they will renew their campaign the moment the police, who are handicapped seriously in their regular duties by the necessity for watching the mail boxes, relax their vigilance.

FILE CONTESTS ON SIX OFFICES

PEACE HOVERS OVER BALKANS

Prospects of Diplomatic Agreement Increasing Daily.

RUSSIA MAY BE STRONG FACTOR

Czar's Efforts May Take Form of Either Advice or Pressure—France, England, Austria and Italy to Help.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 30.—The chances for a peaceful solution of the Balkan crisis are increasing daily. Russian diplomacy, supported by that of France and Great Britain, expects to tide over the Austro-Servian conflict regarding the Adriatic and drive a bargain with Austria and Italy based on recognition of Albanian autonomy in return for Austria giving Servia access to the sea.

According to views of Russian diplomatists a permanent settlement of the Balkan crisis is desirable to the European powers. They are of the belief that there is no reason to make the Servian position economically untenable.

It is said to be possible that Russia may exert its good offices for peace either in the form of advice or pressure. It must be remembered that Turkey's left flank is entirely exposed to the Caucasus, where Russia has concentrated large forces.

Russia it is said, does not want any Turkish territory, but desires only the freedom of the Dardanelles for the Black sea trade, which represents three-fourths of its grain exports.

Diplomatic Conference.

Rieka, Nov. 30.—King Nicholas has just had a conference with the Austrian minister and other members of the diplomatic corps. It is believed at Montenegrin army headquarters that the Austro-Servian difficulty will be settled amicably.

Armistice Expected.

Constantinople, Nov. 30.—A formal armistice for a fortnight is now within sight, according to an official announcement.

"The pour parlers at Baghtche are proceeding in a satisfactory manner and there is reason to hope an armistice may be signed in a day or two," the announcement said.

Using strips of a blanket, the negro hanged himself from the bars of his cell. Dixon had said that he feared the negroes were organizing to lynch him. The jailer said he felt certain the negro believed a mob was coming when he heard several prisoners being brought up to their cells.

Race Suicide Depletes Army.

Paris, Nov. 30.—The number of recruits available for the French army was reduced from 238,000 in 1906 to 215,000 in 1911 through the diminution of the birth rate in France, was the startling assertion made by Joseph Reinach in the debate in the chamber of deputies on the bill relating to infantry enrollment.

Editor Dies Suddenly.

Fairview, Kan., Nov. 30.—J. R. Leonard, editor of the Fairview Enterprise, died of heart disease just as he finished his supper. Mr. Leonard was 41 years old and unmarried. He formerly lived at Lawrence, coming to Fairview about three years ago. Burial will be in Lawrence.

DR. STUART HAS NO PEER AS A LECTURER

For Years This Southerner Has Delighted Lyceum Crowds.

For years Lyceum audiences have been enthusiastic over the lectures of Dr. George R. Stuart, the great southerner, and our audience will be no exception when he appears here this season.

Sam Jones often said: "Stuart and I hunt humanity together. He goes on one side of the ditch and I on the other, and we get 'em 'gwine and a-comin'." For 16 years Jones and Stuart were co-workers in the evangelistic field. Indeed, it was Jones who drew Stuart from the pastorate, and it was Jones who drew him to the lecture platform.

George R. Stuart has spoken to the greatest audiences of any preacher or lecturer who has lived in the south, except Sam Jones. During a series of lectures in Memphis, Tenn., a few years ago, every available space in the building was packed and people were trying to climb up at the windows after all the doorways were crowded. One man slipped and fell against a window, breaking the glass and slightly cutting his face. Upon being arrested by a policeman he begged to see Mr. Stuart. When Mr. Stuart had heard the story he said to the policeman: "Is this the first man you ever arrested in this city for breaking in to hear a preacher?" The policeman smiled and said, "Yes." Mr. Stuart said: "Well, turn him loose for good luck."

At Portsmouth, O., during a series of lectures, the building that seated 2,000 was so packed with people that on entering the door at the closing lecture, Mr. Stuart was unable to get in. He managed to press down the aisle, but was unable to get further. The people, seeing his dilemma, broke into a laugh. Some one from the gallery cried, "Lift him up," and he was lifted up. Placing his knees upon the shoulders of the men he crawled over their heads to the platform.

Dr. Stuart's record for return dates at the Chautauquas is not equalled by any other lecturer booking at his fee. In the Lyceum he has an equal record, and especially during the last two seasons has the demand for lectures on Lyceum courses in the north been more than equal to the amount of time he can devote to this work. We are fortunate in having secured one of his dates.

Cause for Rejoicing.

It is the custom among some of the New York theatrical managers occasionally to entertain the members of the local ball teams at their theaters. A young recruit from the high grass joined the Giants one day, and that night went with his new teammates to a play as guests of the management. The piece did not appeal to the men, though, and they failed to applaud with any degree of heartiness. After the curtain fell McGraw scolded them for this lack of warmth.

"Here, you fellows come in here free and have the best seats the house affords, and then you sit stock still like a row of dummies!" he said. "I hope this doesn't happen again."

The very afternoon one of the veterans hailed the youngster at practice on the Polo grounds.

"Well, kid," he said, "more big doin's tonight! Mac's going to take us to Bill Brady's theater."

"What's the show?" asked the green hand.

"The show," said the veteran, "is 'Bought and Paid For.'"

"Thank the Lord for that!" said the youngster fervently. "If it's rotten we won't have to applaud."—Saturday Evening Post.

IN BLACK AND WHITE

PREVAILING COLORS FOR MILLINERY THIS SEASON.

Fancy Brims One of the Marked Features of the Styles—Soft Hats in Good Felts to Be Seen in Profusion.

It is a good thing that black and white never grow tiresome, for millinery finds them predominating in all sorts of hats this fall. Two smart designs for street wear are shown here, of white felt faced with black velvet. In accordance with the characteristics of the season, the brims are fancy, one of them showing a wing-shaped extension and the other the slashing and turnings that have proved so advantageous to the trimmer.

Small, flat bows, covered buttons, button and button hole trimmings appear on models of this class. Most of them have soft crowns made over rice net with very little wiring.

These hats do not require bandeaux except for heads smaller than the average. In such cases it is better to introduce a padded head-band in the crown than to use a stiff bandeau. The hat continues to be perfectly comfortable, and sets on the head in the manner of a man's hat.

Many soft hats are shown in good felts, and most of the stiffer ones wear soft. Such hats are trimmed with fancy feathers, soft wings and flexible quills suiting them admirably. Younger women like them especially, as they can be adjusted in any poise.

POINTS ON DRESSING WINDOW

Need Not Be an Expensive Matter to Keep the Curtains Always Looking Fresh.

With the first touch of coolness in the air, the housekeeper's thoughts turn to her garret, where, if she is a good housekeeper, lies her supply of rough dried curtains, ready to be sprinkled and ironed, to do duty for another season. Now is the time of year to plan and arrange the household hangings and upholstering and to have them in readiness after the final housecleaning is over and put into place.

Many who have ecru curtains will find that they have become faded just where they hang against the window, but do not know that they can be renovated back to their original freshness with very little trouble. Try dissolving two or three teaspoonfuls of yellow ochre in a half cupful of warm water and put it in your starch. There is nothing in it harmful to the curtains, and it does not streak them. Yellow ochre can be obtained at any store where paint is sold, and it can be bought in two or three cent quantities, as little is needed for the curtains.

Mourning Waists.

The Dry Goods Economist states that mourning waists show bands of crepe in trimming effect, also revers, collars, cuffs and buttons of this material. Plain net is used where transparent effects are required. Mourning waists for the young miss are being shown, and they are made to give the appearance of lightness, quite foreign to the usual mourning garments. Some of these models are made from voile, peau de soie and crepe de chine, and trimmed with voile and bengaline.

Use of Perfumes.

There are many who think the use of perfumes undesirable, and again, others who believe that a delicate fragrance surrounding the person not only lend refinement, but is also an element that has a health-giving value. There is one thing to be understood, however, which is, that perfumes should be used in moderation and only the best allowed.

Shellhorn Lady Suffered a Great Deal, But Is All Right Now.

Shellhorn, Ala.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Carrie May says: "A short time ago, I commenced to have weak spells and headaches. I felt bad all the time, and soon grew so bad I couldn't stay up. I thought I would die.

At last my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, and it helped me; so he got some more. After I had taken the second bottle, I was entirely well.

I wish every lady, suffering from womanly trouble, would try Cardui. It is the best medicine I know of. It did me more good than anything I ever used."

Cardui is a woman's tonic—a strengthening medicine for women, made from ingredients that act specifically on the womanly organs, and thus help to build up the womanly constitution to glowing good health.

As a remedy for woman's ills, it has a successful record of over 50 years.

Your druggist sells it. Please try it.

CLEAN EMBROIDERY AT HOME

Simple Matter When One Has Learned Just the Proper Method to Go About It.

Apropos of embroidery, lace-making and fine needlework, it is well to know how to clean articles of this kind, without having to send them to a professional cleaner.

If you will wash all your fine embroideries yourself by the following method, not trusting them to the hired maid or washerwoman, you will, no doubt, have splendid results.

Put a half pint of bran into the same amount of cold water and let it come to a boil slowly. After it has boiled twenty minutes, strain off the bran water and add a pint of boiling water. Use this mixture instead of soap when washing fancy work, fine embroideries and laces for the first time. Be careful not to rub, wring or twist them, but just squeeze them gently with the hands after the first washing in this manner. Soap jelly made by dissolving a pure white soap in boiling water may be used.

A little salt added to the rinse water, which should be clean and moderately hot, will set the color in embroidery silks and cottons, if there is any fear of them running. It is best to immerse colored embroideries in strong salt water before they are washed at all; then there will be no danger of the colors running.

Fancy work should be dried as quickly as possible and ironed on the wrong side, first spreading the work over a folded blanket covered with a clean muslin, so that when it is ironed the embroidery will stand out in bold relief, each stitch showing up as if it were new.

Fringed edges must be shaken out thoroughly while they are quite damp and never touched with the iron or they will become matted and unsightly in a short time.

When ironing lace, fold a Turkish towel, lay the lace right side down on the towel and press with a warm iron on the wrong side. This will allow the small upstanding threads on the towel to push through the mesh of the lace and make it look like new.

Never starch lace; iron it before it has become entirely dry.
